

Our Marriage – Where do we stand?

(Please enter the number that best expresses how satisfied you are with the following areas of your married relationship using the scale: 1 = dissatisfied, 2 = somewhat satisfied, 3 = satisfied, 4 = more than satisfied, 5 = extremely satisfied)

Area	How satisfied are you with the following aspects of your relationship?	Level of satisfaction
Overall satisfaction	1. How satisfied I am with our relationship on most days.
	2. How often I feel lonely in the relationship
	3. How happy I am in my relationship.
	4. How well I get along with my spouse.
	5. How committed we both are to our relationship.
Emotional Connection	6. How often we get angry with each other.
	7. The degree of resentment or bitterness we carry toward each other.
	8. How often my spouse expresses his/her love for me.
	9. How affectionate we are toward each other.
	10. How easy it is to express my thoughts and feelings with my spouse.
	11. How comfortable my spouse feels expressing his/her vulnerable thoughts and feelings with me.
	12. How well we empathize with each other.
Communication	13. How well we settle our disagreements.
	14. How well we seem to understand each other's points of view.
	15. How well we discuss even difficult topics.
	16. How frequently we argue.

	17. How well we accept complaints from each other.
	18. How regularly we communicate with each other.
	19. How kind and respectfully we talk to each other.
	20. How well we listen to each other.
	21. How well we communicate our wants and needs to each other.
	22. How defensive we are with each other.
Time together	23. How much quality time we spend together.
	24. The degree to which we share in each other's lives.
	25. How much we have in common to talk about and do together.
	26. How often we spend just enjoying each other's company.
	27. How well we prioritize spending time together.
Finances	28. How often we disagree about money
	29. How much we trust each other when it comes to money.
	30. How comfortable we are with each other when talking about our finances.
	31. How well we work together around money issues.
	32. How easily upset we are with each other about money.
	33. How frequently we get together to manage our finances.
	34. The degree to which we are on the same page when it comes to our money.
	35. The way we have divided money management tasks.

Sexual relationship	36. How close we feel to each other during and after sex.
	37. How happy we are with our sex life.
	38. How comfortable we feel initiating sex with each other.
	39. How well we communicate about sex in general.
	40. How comfortable we feel expressing our sexuality with each other.
	41. How well we communicate our wants and needs during sex.
Parenting	42. How much it feels like we are "in it together" when it comes to parenting.
	43. How well we parent together.
	44. How respected do I feel as a parent by my spouse.
	45. How much do I respect my spouse as a parent.
	46. How much we both participate in our children's lives.
	47. How well we both guide our children in terms of faith, morals and values.
	48. How well we cooperate with each other around parenting.
	49. How well we divide the daily tasks of childcare.
	50. How united are you regarding parenting, in receiving suggestions from your parents, friends, media etc
	(If you do not have children yet – how prepared are you to receive them – intellectually, spiritually and emotionally?)
Intimacy	51. How relaxed and safe I feel with my spouse.
	52. How comfortable I feel telling my spouse things I wouldn't tell anyone else.
	53. How easily I can talk to my spouse when I'm upset.
	54. How secure I feel in my relationship, even when I've upset my spouse.
	55. How comfortable I feel consoling my spouse.
	56. How comfortable I feel sharing my hopes and fears with my spouse.
	57. How safe I feel being myself with my spouse.
	58. The degree to which I protect myself from my spouse's judgment.

Acceptance	59. How accepted "warts and all" I feel by my spouse.
	60. How accepting my spouse is of who I am, faults and weaknesses included.
	61. How comfortable I feel being myself around my spouse.
	62. How well liked I feel by my spouse.
	63. How critical my spouse is of me.
	64. How well we've come to terms with the friction points in our relationship.
Forgiveness	65. How easily we tend to forgive each other.
	66. How much we try to get back at each other when we're hurt.
	67. The degree to which we avoid each other when we're upset.
	68. How easily we apologize to each other.
	69. The degree to which there are lingering or unforgiven hurts in our relationship.
	70. How easily we make up after an argument.
Spirituality	71. The degree to which my spouse plays a supportive role in my spiritual life.
	72. The degree to which I am supportive of my spouse's spiritual life.
	73. The degree to which we experience our relationship as growing in holiness.
	74. How well we can talk to each other about our spiritual lives.
	75. How intentional are we in building the Kingdom of God in our family
	76. How united are we in sharing Christ's salvation with others (in Jesus Youth, parish, neighbourhood etc)
	77. Prominence given to Mass, Confession, family prayer, fellowship, bible reading as a family
Friendship	78. The degree to which we are good friends.
	79. The ease with which we laugh and smile together.
	80. How much we enjoy each other's company.
	81. How light and playful our relationship can be.
	82. How easy it is for us to have fun together.

Relatives / friends	83. How effectively have I 'left' my parents and siblings to 'cleave' to my spouse
	84. How strongly are we able to love and respect both parents as 'one in heart'
	85. How appropriate are the boundaries we have established with our parents
	86. The degree of unity in the decision to help our parents and siblings financially, materially or through physical presence
	87. The closeness we have with your spouse's family is the same as ours
	88. How comfortable am I with my spouse's friends and the time he / she spends with them?
	89. The common friendships you have – are they mutually edifying
	90. How comfortable am I about my spouse sharing about me in his/her close circles – eg. JY cell
	91. How united are we in our involvement in Jesus Youth
	92. Do I feel supported by my spouse in my ministry commitments?
	93. Your involvement in Jesus Youth is helping you individually and as a family to love and serve Jesus better
	94. Does my charisms and talents find proper expression in the ministry and fellowship of the movement?
	95. Are we as a family able to balance the ministry and family commitments?
	96. Does our children benefit from their involvement in Jesus Youth activities?
	97. I really feel accepted and loved in Jesus Youth fellowships
	98. I am happy with the way we help youngsters and other families in their faith life?
	99. Involvement in JY activities and living the six pillars is helping in my journey of holiness
	100. I have met people in the movement who challenge me to love God and serve others in a better way

(This is a general questionnaire, and you can only give generic answers to most. E.g. to the first question, you may have experienced real troubles in the beginning but you might be good friends now or vice versa. Yet the focus should be on where you are at this juncture.)